

Q Julia Bishop (researcher)
Q2 Alex Hetherington (researcher)
A Serena (mum)
B Kawsu (dad)
C Mallison (6)
D Essa (4)

A Oh yeah, so they sometimes change their voices when they're playing, almost like they're American or something like that.

Q Right, yes.

A Which I find really strange because I don't think they watch a lot of American programmes so I don't really know where the voice came from.

Q Do they make it like higher or lower or is it just the accent?

A It's just a bit more squeaky I think, yeah, it's different each time.

Q Yeah and is that what you think is sort of making Mallison imagine like he's on...

A Yeah, I think it comes from that, yeah. But what... Mallison, when you got the watch what do you pretend you're doing? Is it the Ninjas or something?

C What watch?

A Or cyber attack or, what was it now? You know when you were doing the thing with [male cousin] when you were...., you'd got your VTec watch on and you were hiding under the table with [male cousin], oh the zombie virus, that was it. Where's that come from? Where's the zombie virus come from?

C A video what [male cousin] watches.

A What's Papa Jake? Is that a programme?

C What [male cousin] watches.

A Is that something on TV?

C No.

D No, on the iPad.

C YouTube.

A There's something on YouTube that his cousin watches has got something to do with a zombie virus, which I think is another child playing, that's my guess. Is that right?

C No.

A Is it another child?

C Adult.

A An adult?

D Playing with Nerfs, hundreds of Nerfs. Two two ???

A An adult playing with Nerf guns talking about a zombie virus and that's what they were trying to...

Q It's interesting how it's influencing their pretend play isn't it? Yeah. I mean would you say that that's common or do they just be like.... other kinds of pretend ...

A Oh yeah it's just whatever's that week isn't it?
