

Q Julia Bishop (researcher)
Q2 Beth Nutbrown (researcher)
A Marina (mum)
C Anna (7)
D John (5)

Q ....to record. So now the light's on, you're recording.

D And what's this for?

Q I can't quite see what that is. Do you want to....

D Oh, to turn it loud.

Q That's right, it's the volume isn't it. Clever you.

D Oooooo!

Q Ah, now you put it really close to your mouth then. Did you think that would make it louder?

D I can't make it louder. Oh! I think I can put it to dip, it can't move that way. Oh.

Q No. I think that's just to get the batteries in and out.

D Oh.

Q What do you think that one's for?

D I think I want to put it in.

Q That's right.

D How do you do that?

Q Well can you see there's a little button?

D Yeah.

Q Press it down a bit and then it will go in again. Press it down.

D Good.

A How do you know how to do things like this?

D Yeah and you can put.....

Q Is it flashing or is it on all the time?

D Look.

Q Oh you've got it, yeah. Can you see the numbers on there, John? What do you think those numbers are going around there?

D I can hold it with it.

Q Oh you could hold it with the USB stick, that's a really good idea, I never thought about that.

D Oh have to go to the back.

Q Oh that's the battery case, yeah that's right. We'll make sure that's back on again because we don't want to lose that bit. Is it attached? Oh no. Can you get it on? Good boy, thank you, that's fine.

D I can't put it in, how to do the back to put it back in.

Q You're getting a lesson in this Marina, you'll be perfect on it next time.

A I know, he shows me everything and I'm like....

D It to put the battery in. And you can still see the charger.

Q Yes. Is it mainly electronic stuff or would he do it with everything he sees?

A When I go to the doctor's for my blood pressure they both press it. I have to have it done three times, the doctor does it, then she wants to do it, then John ???....

D And you can put it in here.

Q2 Oh do you think it will go in there? This is slightly different. Oh I'm not sure if it is that one. I think they're slightly different. Can you see that they're different to that one.

D Yeah.

A ....listen to your heart, he wants to know what everything is. So of course we're in the doctors and you only have a 10 minute appointment but he ???....

D I can put in a little bit.

Q2 Is that the right one, do you....try to stand. Oh no it's not is it, no. The wind coming back. I can see it, yeah I can see it.

D In there? What's this for?

Q That bit is to go into the computer. So if I get my computer out – is this alright, Marina or should we.....because I'm worried about making you too late.

A     Yeah, no that's fine.

Q     I'll show you John. Would you like me to show you? Do you want to see what to do with it? This is what I do when I go home after I've been visiting you.

D     I plug it in.

Q     I plug it in, that's right. Where do you think I need to plug it? Can you see?

D     In here.

Q     That's it. Lovely.

D     Oh.

Q     And then what it does is, on my computer – do you want to see? Come and sit beside me, it's probably a bit easier to see here....
